Subject: RE: Trade Organization (Corvina)

Hi Ann and Mickey,

After talking this issue over with Scott, he suggested that we put this as a discussion item on the April 26 L&H agenda. It's still the City Attorney's position that Corvina doesn't qualify as a trade organization so it wouldn't be eligible for the license. However, Scott mentioned that it may be a good time to bring up whether the City should designate the Farmer's Market as a park and enact an ordinance allowing city employees to sell there.

Mickey...do you want this issue placed on the agenda?

Thanks,
Jenna

It was held at the meeting of April 4th.
Sally stated concerns about the custodian hours for the market.
Ald. Czaplewski might know more about the Committee's stand and concerns.
There was also still a concern if it was a bona fide club.

Ann,

Do you know what the status of the application is for Corvina? I received a call yesterday from the agent about the Farmer's Market events and setting up a contract for them, but I am going to need to know about the status of the applications before I can move forward.

Thanks,
Jenna

Hard to see how a wine company is a bona fide club, fair association, agricultural society, church, lodge or society, or veterans' organization under 125.51(10). Under 125.02(4), to be a "club" the selling of alcohol must be incidental to the operation. I don't see how a wine company can make that argument.

Corvina is applying for a Temp B Beer/Wine as a Trade Organization. Any legal objections to their designation? The events will be at the Farmers Market.
