Location: 1417 S. 86th St., West Allis, WI

Describe the circumstances of your claim here. You may attach additional sheets or exhibits. During the Wisconsin State Fair, on 8/5/23, I parked in a legal parking space. My car was ticketed and towed in error. I emailed the West Allis Police to dispute. They apologized, issued a refunded the ticket, and provided me information to dispute the $422 tow charge. I will include the emails and photos. Below is the response from West Allis Police Department.
I was refunded $30 and am looking for a refund of the $422.

Thank you,
Becky Sivilotti

Becky, After reviewing the ticket and pictures, it appears that your car should not have been ticketed or towed. We apologize for the error our parking control officer made. I will issue a refund for the ticket. Unfortunately, you will have to file a claim with the city for the reimbursement of your tow fees (see link below). Again we are very sorry for the mistake and appreciate your patience and understanding. If you have any questions, please contact me.

8/5/23, I was parked in a street parking space that was violating no laws. The attached photos are not of my vehicle (this car is actually violating the law, I was not). I went back to take photos of the area. My car was clearly in front of the sign that dictates parking. The area for 'no parking' and 'tow away zone' was pointing in the opposite direction. I included additional photos to show no additional signage in front of this vehicle (and when my vehicle was parked there). I paid this ticket, but I contest it and the tow charge of $422 that I was forced to pay. I am extremely disappointed with how this was handled, as I am a good citizen who follows the laws, even parking laws. I wish I had taken a photo of when my car was parked in this space, but I did not. Does the Police Officer who ticketed my have a body camera or do you require a photo to be taken?

Sincerely,

Becky Sivilotti
