Dear Mayor and Common Council,

My wife and I bought the building located at 1828 S. 76th Street from Harvey Wagner in 2005. Mr Wagner informed us that the area at one time had been re-zoned from commercial to residential but because of the on going business, the building was grandfathered in. After the purchase, TRIAD Construction and then Ranson Construction continued operating out of this site.

The building has been for sale for over six years. After receiving little interest, we worked with a real estate planner to see if the building could be converted into apartments. The major remodeling needed ended up being cost prohibitive.

We received an offer to purchase on October 30th and at that time found out that we were no longer grandfathered in. We were not aware that the building could lose its grandfathered designation.

The only viable use of this building is commercial in nature. As mentoned above, it does not make financial sense to convert it to a single or multifamily building. There is a railroad track on the south side and commercial buildings across the street stretching to National Avenue.

We can no longer afford this building and need to sell. We are requesting that the property be rezoned so that a suitable buyer, who will contribute to the tax base and the City of West Allis may be found.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

Chris Ranson
John Ranson
