Officer Poklasny reported that there was a fight at the business between two dancers working as employees or contractors, J.W. and O.B., and an employee who was working as a bartender, A.B. The fight was regarding the bartender A.B. telling the dancers to leave the bar as J.W. and O.B. refused to leave after their shift. The dancers then attacked A.B. causing an injury to her arm. Edward Bomback stated that he had to drag one of the dancers out and during that time he was struck in the head as he escorted her out. One of the dancers picked up a pool cue and broke a light, knocked over chairs, and knocked over a dart machine. J.W. and O.B. were resistive with officers on scene and one of the dancers had 7 grams of marijuana on her person.

11. That on July 22, 2021, the West Allis Police Department was dispatched to The Spot for a report of several individuals fighting in the bar. When officers arrived on the scene, they were confronted with several upset and injured parties still on scene. - 9:12 PM: The fight continues and the bartender S.N. can be seen swinging a high-heeled shoe at one of the female dancers.
- 9:13 PM: Initially the physical portion of the fight appears to be over and parties begin to pick up their belongings. After about 30 seconds, dancer S.W. can be seen picking up a glass and striking Edward Bomback in the face causing him injuries that reportedly required stitches to close.
- 9:14 PM: Dancer S.W. attempts to leave the bar before being stopped by a male party and falling to the ground. Edward Bomback, another female party, and Lonnie Bald all force S.W. out of the bar. S.W. remains out of the bar for a period of time before returning in to grab a wig and a purse. Bartender S.N. tries to stop S.W. from taking the purse and the fight resumes with Bartender S.N. striking S.W. in the face

Greenfield Avenue for a report of an individual, identified as A.D. in this amended complaint, who had been shot in the foot. A.D. was working at the establishment as an employee or contract dancer. Officer Kaye noted that it appeared A.D. had been shot through the top of her big toe at the knuckle with an exit wound out the bottom of her toe. A.D. was transferred to the hospital. A.D. explained to Officer Kaye that the shooter was a male subject she had met earlier and had invited to the bar for her shift. While they were at the Spot, A.D. stated that the male subject had consumed “a lot of alcohol” and began talking with other dancers, causing A.D. and the male subject to argue. The argument moved out to the male subject’s vehicle outside the Spot. While both subjects were in the vehicle, the male subject obtained a gun, pointed it towards the passenger area where A.D. had her feet, and fired one shot striking A.D.’s foot.
